

Hospice: What to expect

When you're admitted for hospice care, our team will assess your needs and meet with you to discuss your goals and preferences. Then, working hand-in-hand with you, your family, and care providers, we'll assemble a care team and create a care plan that addresses your medical condition and personal wishes.

- We'll ensure the right medications are taken at the right time and train family caregivers to help.
- We'll develop a personalized pain management plan to relieve your symptoms. With controlling your pain and symptoms as our top priority, our team will work to manage your pain and discomfort as much as possible.
- We'll support your whole family. We'll educate them on what to expect, provide respite care, and offer spiritual support throughout the journey, including bereavement support.

“I wouldn't have thought of anyone else to provide hospice care. Everyone I encounter has incredible care and compassion for everyone they meet.”

- Terri Bursch, wife of former hospice patient
